BOTH PITCHERS EFFECTIVE

Blue Bunched Hits, However, and Jackson Triumphed Over Byram.

PRINCETON, June 10.—Determined to be revenged on the Tigers for the overwhelming defeat of last Saturday, Yale played a fine game of ball this afternoon and won by 3 to 2.

The day was ideal for baseball and the grandstand and bleachers were crowded with lookers-on.

Both teams were cheered almost continuously by their supporters, but the Princeton cheerers were so much more numerous than Yale's that the Yale yell was drowned. In the ninth inning, especially, the Tigers, with all their forces brought to bear, cheered loudly, but it proved of no avail, and Princeton could not bring the necessary hits.

Jackson, for Yale, allowed his opponents but four hits, and even though his own team made but three safe singles they were enough to win the game. He pitched a fine game up to the eighth inning, and then made a wild throw that let in one run and allowed a Blue runner to reach third. The latter scored on an infield play, and this gave Yale a lead of 3 to 2.

In the fifth and sixth Princeton did its only batting in the game and made its two runs. After that Jackson steadied down and old Nassau's men went out in order.

COMMISSIONERS BEAT
MOUNT WASHINGTONCantwell's Clever Twirling Blanked
Crack Baltimore Aggregation—Fast
Fielding a Feature.

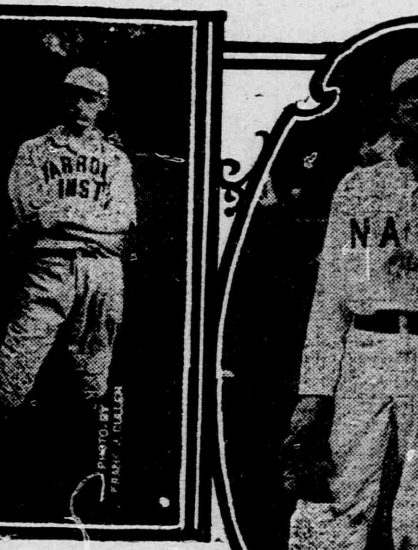

BALTIMORE, June 10.—The Commissioners team of Washington, downed the Mt. Washington aggregation on the latter's grounds in fine style by 4 to 0.

The home team was not allowed a single tally, and only three reached first base, and these on scratch hits.

This was due to admirable twirling by Cantwell, who had eleven put-outs to his credit. In the first three innings he struck out six of the nine men that faced him. He had perfect control throughout the contest, and kept the hits well scattered.

The Commissioners put up an errorless game and made many sensational plays. This was especially evident in right field. Mattingly, who occupied this position, had a busy day, and many of those he pulled in were made after long sprints.

For the home team, Thomas, Arnold, and Duncan excelled, and it was due to their clever work that the score was not increased.
